Dear Ms. Conroy:

I support the Holley Place project.

If a community doesn't have affordable housing options, then its diversity suffers, we need more young white collar and blue collar professionals that can live and work in our area. Businesses in a community are most successful when their employees have housing options nearby.

Re: Special Permit #2021-0122, 11 Holley Street

Dear Abby,

I am writing in support of the Holley Place Project. I have reviewed the application and think the Salisbury Housing Commission's plan is a really good one.

Holley Place Project has been carefully designed to both enhance the Holley Block and to maximize affordable housing opportunities. It will be a large improvement over the way the area is currently configured and will in all likelihood increase the value of the adjacent properties. I feel confident that this new building and its residents will be a benefit to Lakeville's commercial district.

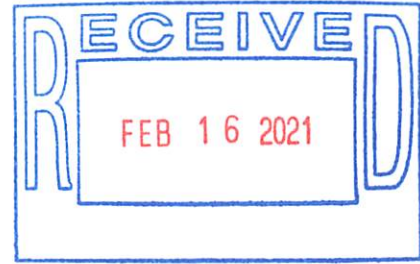

As a two decade resident of Salisbury I applaud the excellent track record of the Salisbury Housing Commission. I have built and renovated many homes and watched the area grow in popularity. I realize the critical role local business employees, who struggle to find housing in town, play in the quality of life here.

The ability of people of diverse economic backgrounds to live and work in Salisbury will determine whether our community continues to flourish. The shortage of affordable housing impacts the fabric of our town. Thus, I greatly appreciate the incredible amount of work that has gone into developing a well designed, feasible project which will increase the inventory of high-quality, stable housing.

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Conroy,

I am writing to state that I believe in affordable housing. I grew up in a small town in Indiana. The four houses at the intersection closest to my house were owned by a retired gentleman, a factory worker and his nurse wife, the owner of the local hardware store and a former governor of Indiana. My brothers and I trick or treated in all four houses and my view of the world was shaped by this. I was shocked by the elitism and snobbism of the university I attended. I am equally upset by the resistance to affordable housing in Lakeville/Salisbury.

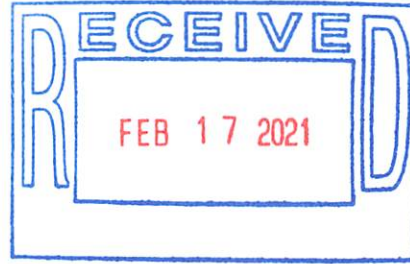

My husband and I have owned two houses in Lakeville since we came here as weekenders in 1997 (we have been year-round residents since 2012). One was on Meadow Street, the other is our current home on Furnace Road. In both houses, we lived within walking distance of a mix of people from different walks of life.

Retirees, teachers, house painters, contractors and weekenders like ourselves. We chose Lakeville because it offered this mix, we have no desire to live in Lakevillehampton. We are made very uncomfortable knowing that the people who check us out at Labonne's or work in our doctor's office or serve us at restaurants are required to drive an hour or two each way in order to work here.

I believe in the Holley project and would be proud to have affordable housing on the road where I live.

Sincerely,
Carolyn Culliton

Dear Abby Conroy, Land Use Administrator, and the members of the Planning and Zoning Commission,

I wholeheartedly support the Salisbury Housing Commission's current plan for affordable housing at the Holley/Route 44 site. The center of Lakeville is the PERFECT location for affordable housing in that residents can walk to the Grove and senior center, ball fields and bike path, restaurants, post office, convenience store laundromat and other businesses. The Commission has fully addressed concerns about parking and traffic and design. Let's get it done.

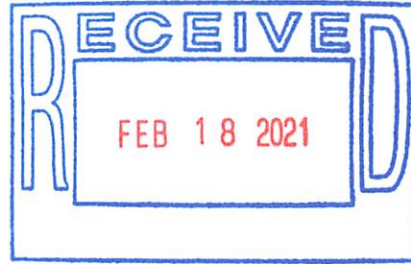

Thank you,

Amy Lake, resident of Lakeville.

Dear Commissioners:

I wish to express my support for the new, revised proposal for Holley Place. I feel the town is way behind in supplying affordable housing for the workers we need and who should be able to live among us. Where better than Lakeville, which was once known as Factory Village? This will be only a step in the right direction, but it's a start. Let's move right along.

Dear Abby,

I'm writing to register my support for Special Permit #2021-0123, 11 Holley Street (the Holley Block project). In my view, the SAHC has presented the details of the process and project transparently and sought feedback from the community. I think the project should proceed with continued community consultation to address an urgent need in Lakeville/Salisbury.

All best,

To the members of the Salisbury Planing and Zoning Committee;

As a permanent resident since 1967, I fully support the current Holley Place project (Special Permit #2021-0123, 11 Holley Place, Lakeville CT 06039).

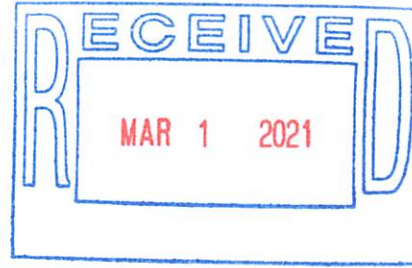

For decades the town has been held up on affordable housing needs for all - young and old.

I believe the town must move forward in this century, beginning with this plan!

Dear P & Z,

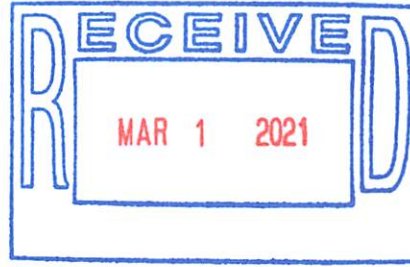

I write in support of the updated Holley Place application from the Salisbury Housing Committee.

Here is a reasonable opportunity to provide affordable housing to those who need it, while allowing the larger community to move toward greater inclusivity and financial stability.

It's time to move forward with the timeline of affordable housing, as proposed in the May 2018 Salisbury Affordable Housing Committee Plan.

Dear Ms Conroy,

This email is in wholehearted support of the 11 Holley Street affordable housing project. It's clear that there is community consensus that more affordable housing options are needed in our town. The Salisbury Housing Committee has patiently developed a viable solution to our shortage including taking into account and answering the myriad questions posed by our town's residents. The revised application looks great!

The time has now come to move forward with this project. I very much hope that the most recent application will be acceptable and that the building project can get underway.

Thank you.
With best wishes,

Dear Ms. Conroy:

I write to convey my support for Holley Place. I live on Rt. 44, about 1/4 of a mile down the road from the proposed site, and drive past the site many times per day. I believe the modified design of the building addresses any concerns about whether the building will fit in with the character of the village. I support Holley Place and believe the town should move forward with it.

Thank you,
