To Whom It May Concern:

The Salisbury Conservation Commission is an official commission whose charge includes assisting in managing our town's natural resources, advising other boards and commissions, creating an inventory of the town's ecological features, and educating the public about the importance of preserving Salisbury's exceptional and varied biodiversity and habitats.

The Conservation Commission has reviewed and discussed the proposed amendments to the Salisbury Inland Wetlands and Watercourses Commission's (IWWC) regulations, and we offer our unconditional support for each of these amendments. We appreciate the excellent work that the IWWC does for our town, and we are always available to assist, if needed, with its efforts to protect our wetland and water resources.

Sincerely yours,

The Salisbury Conservation Commission
