Just adding my concerns again...

This project is simply not appropriate for this small, quiet (mostly), rural village.

I echo many of the concerns of others about traffic, noise, pollution, infrastructure use and property values. Nothing in the proposal or studies persuades me that there would little or no impact on the quality of life here. I have seen, in the examples the Interlaken Inn, Lime Rock, and Camp Sloane, how hard it is monitor and control the operation of event venues once they are established. They operate with little care for their neighbors' peaceful enjoyment of their property. Indifferent to the opposition, Aradev plows on. Why? It's truly disconcerting that they persist. How will they respond to future complaints about noise, and traffic, etc.?
